National Historical Committee Offers NATCA National

Office Tours Ahead of NiW

On April 30, NATCA Historical Committee (NHC) members provided tours of our Union's National Office to more than 20 members attending NATCA in Washington 2024. NHC members gave a short history of NATCA as a union, along with an organizational overview before the tour. Members were able to meet and visit NATCA leaders and staff while seeing the Barry Krasner Building.

After taking the tour, Ben Kaufman (Harrisburg International ATCT, MDT) said, "It was great getting to see where all the work that goes into running our Union happens. I've taken NATCA 101 and been involved for a while, but this was the most impactful learning experience I've had."

Thank you to all members that participated on the National Office Tour. If you would like to learn more about the NHC and NATCA's history, visit the NHC's webpage.

NATCA Members Provide Rep. Lisa Blunt-Rochester's Staff ILG Tour

Staff members from U.S. Representative Lisa Blunt-Rochester's (Del.-At Large) office toured the Wilmington (Del.) ATCT (ILG), facilitated by ILG FacRep Will Turner.

Legislative Aide Sophie Rapley and Special Assistant Iris Turner expressed enthusiasm in learning about the daily operations at ILG and the responsibilities of air traffic controllers. They were particularly interested in understanding the current staffing crisis affecting controllers both locally and in the National Airspace System (NAS).

"Their awareness of our staffing challenges and their engagement in discussions about the local and broader effects were encouraging," said Turner. "We also covered how ILG, as President Biden's home airport, and the NAS are affected by government shutdowns and funding issues."

The Congressional staff members reassured Turner of their office's willingness to support NATCA in addressing these issues.
