NATCA Stands in Solidarity with Machinists Union Amid Boeing Contract Dispute

NATCA stands in solidarity with the more than 30,000 members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM) who recently went on strike, after being unable to come to an agreement on a contract with Boeing. These hardworking machinists, critical to Boeing's operations in Seattle, Portland, and Southern California, are standing up for fair wages, healthcare, and retirement benefits.

IAM's machinists have long been integral to the aerospace industry, working tirelessly to build and maintain the aircraft that keep the aviation system running smoothly and safely. Their contributions deserve recognition, respect, and just compensation.

NATCA STANDS WITH IAM MACHINISTS

Supporting over 30,000 machinists on strike for fair wages, better healthcare, and secure pensions. Together, we fight for dignity, respect, and justice in the workplace.

SOLIDARITY IS OUR STRENGTH

IAM's strike is a testament to the strength and unity of the machinists, who are facing significant corporate pressure. NATCA stands with IAM machinists in their fight for a fair contract that honors their essential contributions. Union solidarity is the key to securing a brighter future for all workers.

Show your support by signing this solidarity pledge! We need to raise our collective voice and show Boeing that America's workforce stands with Boeing workers in this fight.
