NATCA UPDATE FROM PRESIDENT NICK DANIELS ON MEMBER TOWN HALL

NATCA Members,

We are facing uncertain and unprecedented times, making frequent and transparent communication more critical than ever between the National Executive Board and the NATCA membership. To ensure you stay informed, starting this Sunday, March 2, at 4 p.m. EST/1 p.m. PST, we will begin hosting weekly webinars with NATCA membership. These calls will be brief and focused on key updates.

The scope of these calls will be limited to current events. While we cannot and should not respond to every tweet or rumor, we recognize the need for our members to stay informed, even if that means simply updating you on our information-gathering efforts. We intend to send out a brief recap of the update to all NATCA members after each call is complete.

We recognize that these times are challenging with unnecessary stress, pressure, and distractions placed on a workforce that should be focused on safety. Despite these difficulties, we remain united. We support one another and we will continue to ensure that every member is informed. Now more than ever, unity and solidarity are essential.
